FRIENDLY SHANDONG - QINGDAO DELIGHTS TOUR

One of the birthplaces of the Chinese civilization, Shandong located on China's northeastern coast, is full of legends. On a trip to this captivating land, you'll expect to experience some of the best the Middle Kingdom has to offer. Try Tsingtao beer during a sightseeing tour in Qingdao, one of the most livable cities in Asia. A Shandong tour has so much to offer.

Day 1 Arrival Qingdao (Lunch/Dinner)

Arrive into Qingdao, China's city of sails. Your tour guide will meet you and transfer you to a tour of Qingdao Beer Museum. Discover the history of China's oldest brewery. View numerous photographs, artifacts, and old equipment depicting the story of the beer factory, established by German immigrants in 1903. Visit the manufacturing section to learn about the brewing and production of the popular beverage. During and after the tour, you can sample a couple of the famous beers, then browse the gift shop for charming presents and souvenirs.

Then visit Taidong Street, the famous Qingdao famous snacks street.

Day 2 Qingdao (Breakfast/Lunch)

Today you will get a sweeping view of Qingdao at Zhanqiao Pier, a 440 m (1,444 ft) long wharf that extends into the sea. A large octagonal observation pavilion stands at the end of the pier, giving you a panorama of the crescent-shaped skyline and the bay. A landmark of the city and recognizable on a local beer label, the granite-columned pier symbolises Qingdao's development, as the first wharf built as a naval pier in 1891. Join locals on a stroll around the area, where you can dip your feet into the shallows of a nearby beach. Continue to Badaguan scenic area, a classy evergreen seaside setting.

Badaguan Scenic Resort offers a survey of colonial European architecture at the turn of the 20th century. Originally a residential area for Germans during their protectorate of Qingdao, this historical coastal mansion retreat for foreigners features national styles of architecture from more than 20 European countries, distributed across 70 hectares (1,729 acres). Each street lined with a different tree species, the area makes a popular spot for wedding photography. Take a stroll along the canopied lanes to explore architectural styles including Romanesque, Neo-Gothic, Baroque, and Rococo, and then relax and gaze at the ocean from the sandy beach. Then visit St. Michaels Cathedral.

The last activity today is to visit Qingdao Number One Beach, China's top beach. Reportedly the largest bathing beach in Asia, No.1 Bathing Beach attracts visitors with its soft sand, clear water, colorful fairytale-like chalets, and European ambience. Mild waves and a gentle slope make the spot ideal for swimming. The beach's history begins with the invasion of Germans in 1901, which turned it into an eminent entertainment spot opened only to foreigners. Local government renovated and expanded the beach during preparations for 2008 Olympic Games. The area now boasts bars and restaurants, ballrooms, beach volleyball courts. Then visit German Rideau Hall and Little Fish Park. Transfer for a walk along the coastline of Qingdao City to May Fourth Square and the 2008 Olympics Sailing Centre.

Day 3 Qingdao Departure (Breakfast)

Free at leisure until your transfer to airport or railway station.

FRIENDLY SHANDONG - CONFUCIUS CULTURE TOUR

This itinerary is the most essential Confucian cultural tour of Shandong. You are about to experience the beauty of the springs, the stunning views of Mount Tai and the hometown of Confucius. Follow this itinerary to create a trip full of memories to last a lifetime. Your first stop along the tour is Jinan, famous for its springs and pleasant weather. Towering mountains, bubbling springs, lakes, rivers and the city blend together, creating the perfect mix of attractions. All the natural views make this garden city one of the most unique destinations in northern China. Next, head to Qufu, known best as the hometown of Confucius. Located within this small town are the Confucius Mansion, Confucius Temple and Cemetery in Qufu, known collectively as “The Three Memorial Edifices of Confucius”. You can experience the rich cultural history of Confucianism in the area in which it thrived.

Day 1 Arrival Jinan (Lunch/Dinner)

Arrive into Jinan, the city of springs! Your tour guide will meet you and transfer you to visit the famous Baotu Spring. This spring, which has water jutting up from beneath, is one of the three main attractions that you cannot miss while you are in Jinan. As the saying goes, you have not been to Jinan if you have not visited Baotu Spring. Continue to Daming Lake Park. Afterwards, transfer to hotel. Free at leisure.

Day 2: Jinan-Qufu (Breakfast/Lunch/Dinner)

Transfer to Qufu in southwestern Shandong (it will take around 2.5 hours by car) to see the famous Confucius Mansion, Confucius Temple and Cemetery, also called “The Three Memorial Edifices of Confucius.” The Confucius Temple is the world’s largest and oldest Confucian temples. Since first established in 479 B.C., the temple was expanded repeatedly over a period of more than 2,000 years, becoming the large complex that can be seen today. The Confucius Mansion, also known as the Kong Family Mansion, is the historical residence of the direct descendants of Confucius. Today, the mansion has been converted into a museum where you can experience the preserved luxury and family atmosphere of this historic home.

The Cemetery of Confucius, also known as Kong Lin, is the largest family cemetery in the world for Confucius descendants. Confucius himself as well as several thousand of his descendants and disciples are buried within the cemetery.

Day 3: Qufu-Taian-Jinan (Breakfast/Lunch/Dinner)

Your morning transfer (about 1.5 hours) from Qufu to Mt. Tai which is one of the Five Sacred Mountains in China, known as the Mount of the East, the Mountain of the Gods, and the Eastern Peak of Heaven. You will visit Dai Temple, and climb up to Mount Tai for a glimpse of Puzhao Temple and Bixia Temple. There is a poem to describe the mountain as “When reaching the great peak of Mount Tai, we hold all mountains in a single glance”. Transfer back to Jinan after tour.

Day 4 Jinan Departure (Breakfast)
